If you do not agree to the terms and conditions of this Agreement then you must not install, register, copy or use the software.

This page is for information and does not form part of the Licencing Agreement.

1.2 The Software

This Licence governs the Licensee's use of the CADS Software Application(s) named on

CADS Confirmation of Order Form(s) or

CADS Acknowledgement of Order Form(s) or

CADS CD or DVD Licence Form(s)

including its programs, documentation, subsequent corrections, additions and modifications ("the Software"). This Licence shall replace and discharge all prior representations and agreements (if any) relating to use of the Software. In case of conflict, the terms of this Licence shall over-ride any terms or conditions imposed by the Licensee.

1.3 The Licence

CADS owns or is otherwise authorised to licence the software and in consideration of you, the Licensee, agreeing to abide by the terms and conditions of this Licence, and subject to the payment of applicable licence and other related fees, hereby grants the Licensee a non-exclusive, non-transferable right to use the Software Application but only on the Licensee's compatible computer system or systems, or devices for the Licensee's internal business operations subject to the terms and conditions of this Licence. The Software is in use on a computer when it is loaded into the temporary memory or installed into the permanent memory. The Licensee shall not install, access or otherwise copy or use the Software except as expressly authorised by this Agreement and the Licensee agrees not to use the Software for any re-sale purposes.

Where the software is supplied on a Single User USB Hardware Key (Dongle) basis the Licensee may install as many copies of the software as is required on compatible computers but shall only use the software on one compatible computer at a time with the Dongle attached.

Where the software is supplied on a Single User basis to be used with a CADS Single-User Software Licence the Licensee may install one copy of the Software on one Central Processing Unit (CPU) of the compatible computer and may also keep one copy of the Software for security or archival purposes only. Except for such security copy, no other copies of any part of the Software not incidental to use of the Software as permitted in Clause 3 above shall be made and the Licensee shall not download the Software to or permit it to be accessed from any unlicensed equipment or by any third party. Should the Licensee wish to cease to use the software on the computer on which it has been installed then it can be removed without further reference. If the Licensee wishes to install the software on a different compatible computer then the Software Licence may be transferred with the assistance of the CADS Technical Support Team.

Where the software is supplied on a multi concurrent user basis on a Local Area or Wide Area Network the Licensee may install as many copies of the software as required on compatible computers with the Network Dongle or the CADS Floating-Network Software Licence installed on the Network Server. The Licensee shall at no time use more copies of the software than have been authorised by the Network Dongle or the Software Licence.

The Licensee agrees that any copies of the Software Application shall contain the same proprietary notices which appear on and in the Software Application.

The Licensee will not attempt to alter, modify, translate, reverse engineer, decompile, decrypt, extract, or disassemble or copy the software either in whole or part or incorporate it within any other software or to emulate or reverse engineer the Dongle so that the software may be used without the authorised Dongle issued by CADS or any third party.
